

I've got some good gladioli, pity they are too early for our show...again!

Best year so far for fruit

I now do my smoothies using yogurts (seedless grapes), give it a quick zap then in the fridge to chill – bostin!

I'm still dead heading summer bedding plants on the front

The school kids' produce is doing well in their tunnel on the school allotment. Gardening is starting up again now they are back at school!

I've found a place that makes up logos and embroiders onto their shirts. £20 for the set up logo, our committee wore them last night for our general meeting - had quite a bit of interest from other members. They are best material polo shirts and only £12

Had another drop off of wood chip – I've just nicked the last of it...two days it lasted!

As I was early to pick up the shirts, one of the wenchers showed me one of their machines at work finishing off my order – impressed

I weeded around my compost bins then added woodchip. The blueberry was top dressed again with spent hops

All done, well this bit anyway

Sorting out my 8oz onions for Colley Gate and the Midland NVS shows
